The Realities of our Environment Demand Security

FROM THE DESK OF THE CEO

It is a well-known fact that politicians create unrealistic expectations before and during elections. The unemployed expect jobs, the homeless expect houses, communities expect more schools and hospitals, entrepreneurs expect a better business environment and workers expect better wages. The fact of the matter is that most, if not all, expectations have an economic foundation. Most leaders in Africa agree that the success or failure of their countries depends largely on economic growth and internal stability.

Christopher Redman put it well by saying that national anthems should rather be: "a rock classic that suggests a highly pragmatic approach to the problems facing the economy." You can't always get what you want but you just might find you get what you need. (The Rolling Stones)

Acceptance and tolerance goes hand in hand with expectations. When expectations do not realize, acceptance and tolerance diminishes resulting in the escalation of crime and violence.

Unemployment is a somber reality right through Africa. The continent, on average, has an unemployment rate of between 20% and 30%. With a population of 1.3 billion people, it means that approximately 300 million people do not work, or did not work less than five hours in seven consecutive days.

Complimented by inadequate education or, in some instances, a total lack thereof, multiplies the problem at an alarming rate. According to UNESCO Africa has an average illiteracy rate of 22%. This means that roughly 774 million people, aged 15 and older, are illiterate. Only a small percentage of the population have a post-school qualification that unequivocally explains the critical shortage of qualified labor and the tremendous surplus of unskilled workers. In addition to this, the population growth of Africa equals or exceeds the economic growth. If population growth outstrips economic growth, more and more people are added to the existing surplus in the labor market. Even if population growth equals economic growth the surplus labor remain the same with no reduction in unemployment.

In addition to the above realities, there are also several other economic influences on unemployment. As soon as monetary and/or fiscal policies are relaxed, more money is released into the economies that usually leads to an increase in inflation rates. Although higher inflation rates sometimes create more jobs, it leads to stricter economic policies that dampens economic activity and slows down the need for labor. Unemployment also rises if the economy is in a recession or depression. As soon as these phases are bridged, economies are forced to balance current supply with projected demand. As a result more labor is needed and urbanization increases. Employees then reside around industrial areas and create bigger unemployment potential for a possible next economic recession or depression.

Urbanization, on the other hand, is inevitable and essential for economic development. The problem however is that, during economic growth, urbanization increases, but when economic growth decreases urbanization does not decrease. This again results in more unemployment and an increase in socio-political conflict as well as crime.

In addition to unemployment, urbanization also involves other economic challenges such as a lack of space following by more social problems. Although population growth stimulates urbanization, urbanization may again slow down population growth as it tends to reduce families - but over a very long term.

The key question is whether countries are truly capable of addressing unemployment and poverty effectively without forcing the budget permanently out of proportion (in an attempt to meet unrealistic expectations). Collecting from those who have (more tax and other methods) and distribute it to those who do not have, will result in short-term gain but long-term pain. Abraham Lincoln made it clear when he said: "Economic policy makers can please a few consumers some of the time, and a few more consumers a bit longer, but it would take a miracle of economic fortune to please all consumers for longer than a month."

Poverty places a tremendous burden on economic progress. A man (the economy) can embark on a journey with a lot of energy, but if he has to carry a big bag of wood (poverty) from the beginning, he usually arrives late or not at all at his final destination. It will also not help to keep on loading more wood in the bag and then get a donkey (higher taxes, foreign debt, etc.) to carry the bag. The donkey might get so exhausted that the man (the economy) will also have to drag the donkey along.

It is therefore clear that unemployment and poverty are not a short-term problem for Africa. If expectations that have been created by politicians, do not realize, a feeling of disillusionment arises which further incites people to violence and crime. The fact of the matter is that many police services in Africa cannot protect every building, factory, complex, institution or organization from theft, burglary, sabotage or looting.

Security companies will therefore remain important. Security services is a rather expensive commodity, and if a client is serious about his long-term risk management, he/she is usually prepared to incur such an expense. It is here where Omega must maintain and increase its competitive edge. Understanding the realities of Africa places Omega in a better position to exceed our customers' expectations by continuously striving to make a difference.

Although sad to say, security companies will continue to play a vital role in the world and will never cease to exist. Against this background let us at Omega take an afresh decision to provide our clients with the best service money can buy! Remember, if clients like you, they will listen to you, but if they trust you and believe in you, they will do business with you.

Omega Risk Solutions (Angola) Lda in Partnership with Project Lulo

The Lulo Diamond Project is a 3,000km² concession in Angola's Lunda Norte diamond heartland, approximately 630km east of the Angolan capital of Luanda.

Lucapa operates the Lulo concession in a partnership with Empresa Nacional de Diamantes E.P. (Endiama), Angola's national diamond company and a private partner Rosas & Petalas.

The Lulo partners have been conducting alluvial and kimberlite exploration activities continuously at Lulo since 2008. This early exploration work enabled commercial alluvial diamond production to commence in January 2015.

The Lulo Project is one of the most prospective projects at this stage of its development in Angola and has produced 10 diamonds in excess of 100 carats each to date with a record find of a 404-carat diamond in 2016.

Lulo owners and partners continue to advance their search for the primary kimberlite sources of these exceptional alluvial gems, with three drill rigs now available in the ongoing kimberlite exploration program.

Omega Risk Solutions (Angola) Lda have been providing security services to Projecto Lulo since 01 July 2017.

The focus of the service is base camp protection, drill site and equipment protection, product escort services as well as continuous patrolling of the area to clear the concession of illegal diamond miners.

Given the size of the concession, Omega makes use of a QRF concept that patrols the different blocks of the concession continuously.

Considering the rich deposits in the concession, illegal miners became extremely active in the area.

Illegal activities have been addressed successfully in effecting arrests, confiscation of equipment and harassing logistical support lines to illegal activities.

Equipment seized

Organised illegal activities discovered and shut down

The Contract Manager, Zander Rademeyer started at Projecto Lulo on 04 March 2019 and is actively involved with the QRF teams in the different blocks to clear the concession of illegal mining activities.

Larger groups of illegal miners showed aggressive resistance and with the support of the Angolan Armed Forces were evicted from the area, however, illegal activities are an ongoing threat towards exploration activities and equipment. The QRF adopted tactics is to infiltrate strike and retreat due to aggressive response from especially large groups of illegal miners. Due to no road infrastructure in the Cassonge area of the concession, the QRF team's infiltration on foot exceeds 9 kilometres depending on the area under patrol.

On 01 March 2019 the Contract was awarded an extension of 25 members to bolster the extending exploration and other activities on the project. With the growing contract Omega had to procure a larger bus (42 seater) in order to do the weekly shift change between Projecto Lulo and Malange from where the manpower reside.

Miner's day celebrations were on 27 April 2019. The QRF team again made successful arrests of illegal miners in the Cassonge area

CYCLONE IDAI

(14/03/2019 - 15/03/2019)

On 07 March Cyclone Idai was identified and reported in the press a few days later. The national radio and TV channels in Mozambique only began to spread news related to the cyclone from 11 March 2019.

The initial point of impact was projected to be between Beira and Nacala.

Johann Rademeyer, Regional Manager based in Maputo followed the cyclone and a pre-warning email was sent 3 days in advance with instructions on how to prepare for it. The point of "Landfall"

(impact) was then predicted to be at the coastline of city of Beira.

Preparations started and all Clients were advised to prepare and assist with shelter for the security officers at the different sites. Fuel, food and water was stocked up and the office was prepared and all electronic equipment were locked up safely.

WhatsApp messages were sent to all security officers on what to expect and what to do to prepare themselves and their families and property as best they could.

BMG (Bearing Man Group) facilities totally destroyed

Macsteel Group suffered great damages

On 09 March 2019, Claudio Malusso, the Area Manager for Beira, had a meeting with the security officers explaining the situation again, informing them on what to do before, during and after the cyclone.

Cyclone Idai made "Landfall" at 20h30 on 14 March with heavy rains and a wind of 100 km/h which increased to 220 km/h. An estimated 1000 mm of rain fell over the affected area and low lying areas were flooded quickly.

The cyclone caused extensive damage to the city of Beira leaving the city without telephone communications, water and electricity. On 15 March 2019 the people of city of Beira assessed the damage and started to clean up and salvage what they could.

Between Saturday evening and Sunday, Movitel (Mozambican Mobile Network Company) engineers started working on an emergency communications system. Beira was basically cut off from the outside world for 3 days as no telephone communications were working and all access roads to Beira were washed away.

LAM did a test flight on Sunday 17 March to determine if they could land on the airport. From then onwards flights to and from Beira resumed.

International support organizations and NGO quickly started a disaster management/aid control room at the airport and soon the first airplanes started to arrive with aid.

François Bekker, the CDM Arkhê Manager arrived in Beira to assess the CDM site on Tuesday 19 March 2019 and took some satellite phones with for the Shoprite Manager Mr. Bradley and the Area Manager, Claudio Malusso. Johann Rademeyer and Patricio Ramadas arrived in Beira on Wednesday 20 March taking cash for the Arkhê operations and some clients as well as medical supplies. All clients were visited and the situation was assessed. The majority of the clients asked for more security personnel and Arkhê could accommodate them. There were specific requests from clients not on site in Beira but elsewhere in the world for Arkhê to visit their installations, assess, and confirm the situation on the ground. Feedback was sent via WhatsApp as soon as cell phone communications were repaired.

Claudio Malusso also assisted the Portuguese marines and at the same time made use of their assistance to look for some missing security officers. On 24 March 2019 they drove 65 km to the Pungue Bridge and from there carried on by boat for another 58 km before they reached the Chibabava district where they eventually found the missing security officers. They also delivered 1.4 ton of supplies.

The Beira team did a great job preparing for the cyclone and thereafter to assist the clients in their needs under very difficult conditions.

Valuable lessons were learned before, during and after the cyclone and Arkhê's managers continuously assisted clients with advise, transport, communications, hotel bookings, damage assessments etc.

CLUB 21 – Cape Argus Cycle Tour – 109 Kilometers

Gawie van Rensburg, the Financial Manager of Arkhê Risk Solutions in Mozambique, started to take part in the Cape Town Cycle Tour in 1996 just before his 41st birthday. The Tour was then called the Cape Argus Cycle Tour, but was changed to Cape Town Cycle Tour in 2016. The Tour is run every year on the second Sunday of March and is 109 kilometers circumventing the Cape Peninsula. Gawie has rode the tour each year from 1996 to 2019. In 2012 however, he could not complete the Tour due to a calf muscle injury, and he could only manage to do 35 kilometers. In 2017 the Tour was cancelled due to very strong winds.

During the 24 years of taking part in the Tour, Gawie experienced all kinds of weather, from very hot to chilly, from very dry to pouring with rain, from wind still to a wind so strong that the Tour had to be cancelled in 2017.

The Cape Town Cycle Tour is the biggest timed sporting event in the world and believed to be the best organized cycle ride in South Africa.

Club 21 was formed to honor those riders that completed 21 rides. Members are issued with a commemorative medal, a certificate and a special cycling shirt.

Says Gawie: "I am very proud of being able to complete 21 Tours and in 2019 my 22nd. My Club 21 member number is 2181 which I reached in 2018 at the 40th presentation of the Tour. To put it in perspective, the first riders to reach 21 Tours did so in 1998 and up to 2019 only 2435 riders have been able to reach 21 Tours. This means about 116 riders per year achieve this milestone. Some years it was only 8 riders and some years up to 260."

During the 24 years that Gawie has taken part in the Cape Town Cycle Tour, his wife Ursulah has been his support and inspiration.

Gawie says that his next goal is to complete 30 Tours.

Official launch of the biggest shopping complex in Port Harcourt – Next Cash and Carry Mega chain hypermarket “NEXT CASH AND CARRY”, with the motto “everything under one roof”, has opened in the Garden City of Nigeria, Port Harcourt.

Next Cash and Carry Limited, along with Next Foods (Nigeria) Limited, is a wholly owned subsidiary of Next International Nigeria Limited, a first class brand market development and management company based in Sub Saharan Africa.

Next Cash and Carry Limited is inspired by the successful Cash and Carry operations/ Warehouse Clubs/ Hypermarkets in United Kingdom, South Africa and United States of America.

Their flagship store in Nigeria is located in Abuja. Nestled in a picturesque and serene environment on Ahmadu Bello Way, 4 kilometres from Abuja City Centre and 5 kilometres from Gwarimpa & Jayi, two of the most populated regions in Nigeria.

With a delayed opening due to the ongoing elections which were scheduled for March 2019 in Nigeria, the host, the Governor of River’s State, His Excellency Ezenwo Nyesom Wike, arrived and was welcomed by the Next Cash and Carry MD, Mr. Ndibe Obi, and various other guests.

There was a slight drizzle of rain but it did not stop the festivities. During the official visit and opening of the store, Olode Security Personnel were hard at work in the background.

With a Site Commander, 4 Control Room Operators and 46 Security Officers, we secured all entrances and exits, manned the receiving yard for goods still coming in to the store in anticipation of the expected rush of customers on the opening day and a few days thereafter, physically checking all customers entering, handling their parcels at the parcel counter.

We thank the Next Cash and Carry Management team for their continued trust in Omega to be their Security Service Provider of choice.

NEXT STOP - The cities of Onitsha, Imo and Lagos are next in line to experience the power of Next Cash and Carry Limited as all these cities have been marked as locations for our next sites.

Additional info on Port Harcourt

Port Harcourt (Ikwerre: Ígúòcha; Pidgin: Po-ta-kot) is the capital and largest city of Rivers State, Nigeria. It lies along the Bonny River and is located in the Niger Delta. As of 2016, the Port Harcourt urban area has an estimated population of 1,865,000 inhabitants, up from 1,382,592 as of 2006.

The area that became Port Harcourt in 1912 was before that part of the farmlands of the Diobu village group of the Ikwerre, an Igbo sub-group . The colonial administration of Nigeria created the port to export coal from the collieries of Enugu located 243 kilometres (151 mi) north of Port Harcourt, to which it was linked by a railway called the Eastern Line, also built by the British.

In 1956 crude oil was discovered in commercial quantities at Oloibiri, and Port Harcourt's economy turned to petroleum when the first shipment of Nigerian crude oil was exported through the city in 1958. Through the benefits of the Nigerian petroleum industry, Port Harcourt was further developed, with aspects of modernization such as overpasses, city blocks, taller and more substantial buildings. Oil firms that currently have offices in the city include Royal Dutch Shell and Chevron.

Commendation – Outstanding Performance

On February 27, 2019, Olode Control Room Operator, Section Leader (SL) Adenle Adeyemi deployed to Shoprite Otta Mall store, spotted via the CCTV system, a customer entering the store. The unusual behaviour of the customer drew her attention to his activities in the store.

SL Adeyemi left the control room and closely followed this customer from the wine section through the store to the customer exit point. The customer had selected a high value wine, Dom Perignon Champagne worth NGN79, 499.99 (USD equivalent of $220 USD) and displayed a cash receipt to the security officer at the customer exit.

In normal circumstances the customer might have been fortunate to be left alone but for the attention and observations made by SL Adeyemi, the customer was approached and the receipt was scrutinised.

The incident was taken to the Store Management and it was confirmed that the sale of this item for the cash receipt presented did not take place in the store that day.

A copy of the receipt was sent to all stores throughout the country to inform all security personnel of the incident and to look out for similar occurrences.

Management thanked SL Adeyemi for her attentiveness, the manner in which she approached and handled the situation at hand.

It is also noteworthy to know that since then SL Adeyemi had been promoted to Inspector as a Double Checker in Shoprite Nigeria's flagship store, Ikeja City Mall.

According to André Eckard, General Manager Specialized Services, the contract has various challenges of which the most challenging is to manage 45 depots all over South Africa. They overcome this by relying on strong supervisors to enforce policies and procedures.

In addition to managing the security risk aspects of the depots, the Omega team also manages about 237 million litres of beer with a shelf life of 5 days and cash to the value of 1.9 billion rand. Recorded losses for the past financial year were less than R100 000 and within a margin of 0.4% of the volumes sold.

Well done to the team for this achievement and keep up the good work!

Social Community Project: Addo, Eastern Cape

On the 16th of April 2019, Omega Risk Solutions handed clothing to community members of the Valencia Township in Addo.

Addo is a town located in the Sarah Baartman District Municipality in the Eastern Cape Province. It lies in the region east of the Sundays River, some 72 km northeast of Port Elizabeth. Valencia Township was established as a formal settlement around 1990 but the upper Valencia called Alwyntjies was an informal settlement until 2010 where after new houses were built in that area.

Still there are many informal dwellings and many people and children do not have birth certificates or identity documents so it is very difficult to estimate the population of the area.

Valencia was established for the coloured community but now it hosts different races and Afrikaans and Isixhosa are the two main languages.

There are many social problems in Valencia, the children and the elderly are particularly vulnerable groups and there are child headed households as many young mothers have died due to HIV Aids or TB.

ADDO PRIMARY SCHOOL: EASTERN CAPE

On the 16th of April 2019 Omega Risk Solutions visited the Addo Primary school in Valencia, Addo and surprised the children with Easter eggs.

There is one school in the area namely Addo Primary school and the medium of education is Afrikaans. There is no High School for Afrikaans speaking children in Addo, and this is a huge disadvantage for the teenagers as they have to leave the area to attend a High School elsewhere.

There are three main Early Learning Centres in Valencia namely, Place of Mercy and Hope catering for up to 160 children, Abethu catering for 80 and Ollie Olifant catering for 40+ children.

The needs are great and there are many children who don't have access to education due do not having Birth Certificates or there is no room for them in the schools.

KALUMBILA COMMUNITY SCHOOL

In September 2018 Omega Risk Solutions received a request from Kalumbila Community School for a donation to expand the school for the children in the community.

During a site visit to the mine in January 2019 we visited the school in the local community. The building to the right in the picture below is the original school building that the school started with. The continuous growth of the mine had the effect that more families settled in the community. This led to the situation where the school became too small and had to be expanded.

Omega Risk Solutions donated K5000-00 to the project for the paying of the builders’ wages as most of the material was donated by the mine. The building to the far left is the new addition and this created much needed space for students.

Omega is pleased to be involved in the support of community projects and will be involved in the next phase that will again be a classroom of a similar size.

LABOUR DAY CELEBRATIONS

On 1 May 2019 Omega Risk Solutions participated in two separate Labour Day celebrations. The day was celebrated with workers being awarded certificates by the Department of Labour on various parades.

TRAINING ZAMBIA

On 23 December 2018 our Training Supervisor (James Chola) experienced a setback in his health. He was deployed in Lusaka at the head office and was in charge of the training for Lusaka and surrounding sites.

The training section had to restructure and Enock Mubiana was appointed as the chief training officer in Lusaka in February 2019. Enock is now being equipped with skills in various specialized subjects at the Training Academy in Pretoria, South Africa.

Enock has been with Omega since June 2012, appointed at Bwana Mkubwa mine as an inspector and after a while, he was appointed as the recruiting/training officer in Ndola. In September 2013 he was deployed at Kalumbila as the assistant site manager until he became the site manager at Kalumbila. In June 2018 he was re-deployed to the head office in Lusaka to assist the operations manager with quality control at all the sites.

Omega has training officers in Lusaka, Ndola and Solwezi/Kalumbila.

We wish Enock well with the new appointment and responsibilities that has been placed on him.
